

Archaeological cultural heritage, tourism and territorial development:

conflicts, strategies, solutions and management

ITER
ROMA
NVM
Heritage & Cities

Almudena Orejas

RESEARCH PROFESSOR. DEPARTMENT OF ARCHAEOLOGY
AND SOCIAL PROCESSES (INSTITUTE OF HISTORY).
SPANISH COUNCIL FOR SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH (CSIC)

Friday 4th October

13:45 h. General conclusions of the II ROMAN ROADS SEMINAR

Spain

Dr. Almudena Orejas is a research professor in the Department of Archaeology and Social Processes (Institute of History), a part of the Spanish Council for Scientific Research (CSIC). Her research focuses on Landscape Archaeology, particularly on ancient mining and agrarian landscapes. She has chaired several national and European projects and produced important academic work, with more than 200 contributions. She is involved in programmes aimed at the promotion of cultural landscapes as heritage.

Relevant projects

- 2007-2010: Interdisciplinary Scientific Initiative. New perspectives on Landscape Studies. A Network of Networks (ESF/ COST), Chair: T. Bloemers.
- 2008-2013: Technologies for the Conservation and Evaluation of Constructed Heritage Research Programme (TCP) (CONSOLIDER), Chair: F. Criado; Vice-chair: A. Orejas.
- 2013-2015: Landscapes of domination, landscapes of resistance. The appropriation and control mechanisms of society and territory in NW Hispania (PADORE), Chair: A. Orejas
- 2014-2016: Cultural Heritage in Landscape (CHeriScape). JPI-JHEP Joint Pilot Transnational Call for Joint Research Projects on Cultural Heritage. LP: Graham Fairclough; IP: Almudena Orejas.